Police commented that only the presence of a metal drag-rail at the back of the tractor saved the tractor from turning over and causing possible serious injury. ## Route Set Up and Units Placed For Community Chest Parade

Community Chest officers Tuesday morning repeated that the parade which will mark the start of the house-to-house campaign to raise $23,500 next Monday will be one of the biggest, if not the biggest, held in Washington C. H. in years.

This assurance came following Monday night's meeting of officers and representative of organizations that participate in the Community Chest funds.

Hubbub Created As Bulls Escape From Stockyard

A couple of fugitive bulls who took it on the lam from Producers Stockyard, 812 Delaware St., about noon Tuesday, were still on the loose about 1 p. m. — and if late reports were any indication, they were each in at least a dozen places at once.

Police Patrolman Herschel Taylor said that reports, first-hand and otherwise, could lead "almost everywhere on the south and east sides of town."

Employees at Producers Stockyard, city police and more than enough volunteers were aiding in the search. Late reports were that one was nearly cornered on S. Main St. in the neighborhood of the railroad tracks.

The other was still on the loose, police said. Latest reliable report placed it somewhere on Bereman St. in the east side.

Employees at Producers Stockyard, speaking in the absence of Manager Jerry Nessel, who had gone bull-hunting, said the animals apparently broke away when someone left a gate open.

One of the animals was "definitely a bull," they said, but there were hints that the other "might be a steer."

Ion-Stream Principle Hinted As Power for Space Ships

CLEVELAND (AP)—The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics bombarded a small pinwheel inside a glass vacuum jar with an invisible stream of ions today and made it whirl briskly.

The same ion-stream principle, NACA said, some day may be harnessed to push 10-ton space ships moonward at many thousands of miles an hour once they have reached outer space.

Coupled with atomic energy, such a vehicle might have virtually unlimited range.

The demonstration was part of a four-day public inspection of the NACA's Lewis Flight Propulsion Laboratory, which is attracting top scientists here this week.

In order to simulate the searing temperatures which will be experienced by aircraft and power plants at extreme speeds, NACA has developed a research tool, the electric arc tunnel. It uses a cathode ray and anode nozzle to transmit a spark, much as in the powerful searchlight of an anti-aircraft unit.

A FLUID injected into the arc chamber, heated by the arc and expanded through the nozzle produces a high-speed stream, or "plasma jet," with temperatures of 10,000 to 20,000 degrees.

"The arc tunnel suggests an attractive propulsion device for outer-space flight," NACA said.

"If a stream of ions, as in an arc jet, can be accelerated to high velocities by use of electric or magnetic fields a small amount of thrust will be produced."

Ions are tiny bits of matter—atoms which have been stripped of some of their electrons and have become electrically charged. Physicist M. J. Krusnic explained that beyond the earth's atmosphere a vehicle would require only slight power in small doses to accelerate a great deal. "For example," he said, "a 10-ton vehicle in outer space, powered by 10 pounds of thrust for only one month, would increase its original velocity by 25,000 miles an hour."

Latest Faubus Claims Said To Be 'Vulgar'

White House, Army Deny Soldiers Enter Girls' Dressing Room

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus today faced a wave of denials — some in bitter language — to his accusation that male soldiers remained in girls' dressing rooms when the students changed to gym clothes at now integrated Central High School.

The White House, the Army and school authorities said there is no truth to the charges, labeled the claim "completely vulgar" and "completely untrue."

The Army in strong terms denied its troops had invaded the dressing rooms.

A school official termed Faubus' claim "ridiculous."

The governor, told Monday night of White House reaction, shot back this reply: "What does the White House know about it 2,000 miles away? We'll prove it when the time comes."

A number of Central High girls said they knew nothing about any such trespass into the dressing rooms.

Faubus said his information came from parents.

TROOPS, sometimes 101st Airborne Division paratroopers and at other times Arkansas National Guardsmen under federal control, have protected the nine Negro students inside the building ever since the school was integrated by soldiers Sept. 25.

They accompany the Negroes when they move from class to class but remain outside classroom doors.

Faubus' charges were made in a letter to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, commanding the military units at the school and the reserves nearby. The governor made the letter public.

The general returned the letter unopened, James C. Hagerity, presidential press secretary, said because it was addressed to "the commander of the occupation forces."

Walker issued a statement saying the Army and the school staff had received no complaint and that "the soldiers are precluded by orders from activities which might be subject to criticism as described by the governor."

Army Secretary Wilber Brucker said in Washington that the letter "has all the earmarks of desperation and is an unworthy attempt to defame our American soldiers."

The deadlock between President Eisenhower and Faubus continued. The President maintains that Faubus has not given firm assurance that he will enforce integration if troops are removed. Faubus says he will not give up the prerogatives of Arkansas' chief executive.

State Suspends Geer as Doctor

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. Joseph A. Geer, former Fairfield County coronor, today was suspended indefinitely from the practice of medicine by the state medical board. The suspension is effective Nov. 1.

Dr. J. N. McCann of Youngstown, president of the board, announced the suspension was based on the court record of Dr. Geer's guilty plea to a charge he falsified 13 prescriptions for narcotics.

Dr. Geer already has been replaced as Fairfield County coronor on the basis of the charge.

Navy Expert Says America Can Launch Satellite 'Now'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A top American Navy satellite authority says the United States has a satellite "ready to put up right now."

The statement was by Dr. Whitney Matthews, head of the applications branch of the solid state division of the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington.

He said that "we have a model which has been tortuously tested for the last six weeks. It's been given much tougher tests than it will ever undergo in outer space."

Matthews gave no further details, nor was there comment by government sources.

Meanwhile reports of additional sightings of the Russian Sputnik (earth satellite) raised hopes today that U. S. scientists might speed up the computing of its precise orbit.

The latest observations showed the satellite was circling the globe right on schedule at a speed of 18,000 miles an hour, although one conflicting set of unofficial calculations showed its speed had dropped to 15,500, possibly indicating the ball might drop from its orbit.

Radio reception was interrupted at times Monday night for the Russian globe which was launched last Friday.

The Russians said today signals from Sputnik have taught them something new about the electro-magnetic pole.

Moscow radio said Soviet scientists are tracking the satellite at four different posts in the Antarctic. It added:

"Soviet scientists in the Antarctic have discovered changes in the absolute intensity of the energy of the electro-magnetic pole by means of the short-wave transmitter of the artificial satellite."

Navy Credits Russia with Another 'First'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy credited Russia today with another first-possession of operational intermediate range ballistic missiles capable of placing nuclear warheads on virtually every fixed Allied base in Western Europe.

The disclosure, coming on the heels of Russia's pioneer launching of a space satellite, was made by Capt. H. L. Miller of the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

He told a briefing of the National Security Industrial Assn. that "the known Soviet possession of the IRBM at present seriously prejudices our tenure of any base within 1,500 miles of Soviet launching sites."

American officials have expressed frequently during the last several years the belief that the Russians were developing and testing long-range missiles, but this is the first public and unheeded statement that the Soviet military forces now have such weapons.

THE U. S. ARMY, Navy and Air Force all are in the process of developing 1,500-mile ballistic missiles, but they are still in the testing stage.

The Navy has long contended that the coming of the missile age makes aircraft carriers a vital part of the U. S. military machine. Fixed air bases could be destroyed much more easily by ballistic missiles, the Navy contends, than could its carriers and other vessels which move from one place to another.

Capt. Miller is acting director of the progress analysis group in the office of Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations. He spoke before a gathering of industry representatives who are closely associated with the Defense Department's military research, development and production programs on the Navy's planning for action in a nuclear war.

Teamster Poll Papers Target Of New Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate racket investigators said today they hope to establish Wednesday how many Teamsters Union election documents have been salvaged from a hotel incinerator.

James R. Hoffa, elected president of the Teamsters at the union convention in Miami last Friday, said he understood all the papers have been forwarded here.

The documents were subpoenaed by the committee immediately after Hoffa's election, in a sequel to charges that the balloting had been rigged to assure his victory in the face of corruption charges against him.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate committee, issued a statement late Monday saying a Teamsters attorney has reported that a hotel maid had thrown the documents in a Miami Beach hotel incinerator.

McClellan also said that when Senate investigators requested the name of the maid so that she might be interviewed, they were told she was dead.

However, the union attorney was quoted as saying that he felt that most of the documents could be recovered.

In Miami, the Eden Roc Hotel, the convention headquarters, said that a day maid who had worked in the Teamsters Eden Roc office died of a heart attack Oct. 3. The woman, stricken while off duty, was identified as Mrs. Jane Lockhart, 52.

the North Pole is also observing the little moon, the radio said.

American experts had hoped Monday night to obtain by electronic computation, such detailed orbit data as the exact path of the sphere, its location in outer space and possibly its precise shape.

That information had been expected from data fed into a giant electronic computer at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass.

A Russian scientist visiting in the United States said he believed the satellite was reporting atmospheric temperatures by radio with the length of the "beep" signal as a code.

A. A. Blagonravov also suggested that a U. S. device for analyzing atmosphere be sent up in a Soviet satellite.

President Eisenhower was briefed by government scientists today on the Russian satellite and on U. S. plans to put a "baby moon" into outer space.

After the hour-long session, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerity said that so far as he knows the President received no information which would lead to a speedup in this country's satellite program.

Present plans call for launching of a U. S. satellite early next year.

Satellite Maker's Stock Still Climbs

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircraft and missile stocks which kept part of their big initial gains Monday in response to the news of Russia's man-made moon were irregular today. Most stocks were on the downside in continued uncertainty about the industry outlook.

Martin Co., maker of the American earth satellite, continued to forge ahead, adding more than $1. General Dynamics, which like Martin is working on an intercontinental ballistic missile, also rose more than $1. Republic Aviation, which is planning a layoff, another 2,500 to 3,000 men, was off around $1 as were Douglas and Boeing. United Aircraft also fell.

U. S. Scientist Frustrated In Commenting About Sputnik

WASHINGTON (AP)—Said the U. S. scientist at the Naval Research Laboratory:

"Maybe we ought to send up our own satellite with a television camera to circle around the Russian satellite. That way we'd know what's going on."

The remark, made both in sorrow and in jest, is a tipoff on the attitude of the men who had to catch the Russian satellite in mid-air and track it down.

It's a mixed attitude. They're irked and frustrated, but they're proud too.

They're irked because they haven't yet received the cooperation that they had been led to expect from Russian scientists during this International Geophysical Year.

They're frustrated because there is nothing they can do about it. And they're proud because, in spite of this lack of cooperation,

Soviet Paper Pegs Launching Date as Nov. 7

Khrushchev Reports Red Nation Could OK Agreement with U. S.

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet newspaper hinted today Russia will launch a second Sputnik (earth satellite) "more perfected than the existing one" on Nov. 7, the 40th anniversary of the Soviet Communist regime.

The hint came in the newspaper Trud in a dispatch from its London correspondent which added that "moon flights will be possible to the Moon, Mars and Venus."

Two visiting British members of Parliament quoted Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev as saying "we have even more things up our sleeves."

The MPs, Conservatives Cyril Osborne and Capt. Henry Kerby, talked for 80 minutes with the Communist leader about the Soviet intercontinental ballistic missile and other subjects.

They said Khrushchev told them the missile is "only one of the many things we are doing. Our intercontinental ballistic rocket shows that it's no good sending humanly controlled machines against missiles. The age of bombers is over."

Osborne, who said he talked with President Eisenhower in the United States two months ago, said that what Khrushchev told them about rocket weapons "sounded almost exactly like what American officers told me when I visited Redstone Arsenal in Alabama two months ago."

"I TOLD Khrushchev the Americans had described rockets which they said they could throw across the world with great accuracy. They could cover 3,000 miles and hit a baseball field."

Khrushchev, Osborne added, had no comment on this.

But, Khrushchev said the Soviet government will agree to international control of earth satellites and all pilotless missiles—as part of a general Russian-American agreement to coexist peacefully.

In an interview in Moscow Monday with James Reston, Washington bureau chief of the New York Times who is visiting the Soviet capital, Khrushchev said an agreement on peaceful coexistence would remove any problem of controlling new scientific devices.

"The Soviet Communist party leader gave no indication, however, that the Moscow regime was prepared to modify the political or disarmament proposals previously rejected by the United States," Reston reported.

"On the contrary, he was sharply critical of United States policy in the Middle East and Germany, charged that Secretary of State Dulles was trying to drive Turkey into war with Syria, and asserted that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer (Please turn to page two) they managed in a relatively few hours to latch onto the satellite's path and plot its future course.

A Russian satellite expert has said the baby moon now whirling overhead at 18,000 miles an hour is a sort of experimental model. A second one will go up soon, he added, and information from its flights around the earth will be shared with the world's scientists.

When the bare announcement came out of Moscow that the Russians had launched what they call a Sputnik, the men of the Naval Research Laboratory went to work at once tracking it down.

Nine "minitrack" stations were already set up in North and South America to track the American satellite Vanguard when it goes aloft, probably in early spring. Those stations were pressed into service with a quick change of radio equipment and given a new target—Sputnik.

'Friend of Family' Sought In Kidnap-Slaying of Girl, 5

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP)—Police today combed deep into Mexico for the kidnap-slayer of a 5-year-old girl whose unclothed body was found Tuesday night in a dump eight miles east of here.

Little Sandra Jo Lucero apparently died from a single stab wound in the heart. The weapon, a screwdriver, lay nearby.

Police Chief Tommy Thompson and Sheriff J. C. Jones said they will file murder charges against Joe Franco, 24, a farm worker with a record of minor scrapes with the law.

Franco, a "friend of the family," has already been charged with kidnapping the child from her home early Sunday.

His car was found abandoned 200 miles southwest of here in El Paso, Tex., near a bridge across the Rio Grande into Juarez, Mexico. Border patrolmen, FBI agents, Mexican police and New Mexico lawmen swarmed into Mexico to find Franco.

THE GIRL'S body, half covered with sand, was found by a group of five of her relatives, who told police they searched there because they knew Franco "was always boasting" about the area. His parents live nearby.

Officers said Franco came by the Lucero home about 10 p. m. Saturday to see the child's parents. They were at a movie and their five children were in the care of a boy babysitter.

Franco left and returned about midnight. The babysitter and Sandra Jo were sleeping on a bed. Franco told the boy he was sleepy and the boy moved to the couch, leaving Franco with the little girl.

About 12:30 a. m. the boy heard Franco go out the back door. Sandra Jo got up to close the door against a heavy rain then falling. She didn't return.

THE GIRL'S body, half covered with sand, was found by a group of five of her relatives, who told police they searched there because they knew Franco "was always boasting" about the area. His parents live nearby.

Officers said Franco came by the Lucero home about 10 p. m. Saturday to see the child's parents. They were at a movie and their five children were in the care of a boy babysitter.

Franco left and returned about midnight. The babysitter and Sandra Jo were sleeping on a bed. Franco told the boy he was sleepy and the boy moved to the couch, leaving Franco with the little girl.

About 12:30 a. m. the boy heard Franco go out the back door. Sandra Jo got up to close the door against a heavy rain then falling. She didn't return.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackety investigators said today they hope to establish Wednesday how many Teamsters Union election documents have been salvaged from a hotel incinerator.

James R. Hoffa, elected president of the Teamsters at the union convention in Miami last Friday, said he understood all the papers have been forwarded here.

The documents were subpoenaed by the committee immediately after Hoffa's election, in a sequel to charges that the balloting had been rigged to assure his victory in the face of corruption charges against him.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate committee, issued a statement late Monday saying a Teamsters attorney has reported that a hotel maid had thrown the documents in a Miami Beach hotel incinerator.

McClellan also said that when Senate investigators requested the name of the maid so that she might be interviewed, they were told she was dead.

However, the union attorney was quoted as saying that he felt that most of the documents could be recovered.

In Miami, the Eden Roc Hotel, the convention headquarters, said that a day maid who had worked in the Teamsters Eden Roc office died of a heart attack Oct. 3. The woman, stricken while off duty, was identified as Mrs. Jane Lockhart, 52.

Soviet Paper Pegs Launching Date as Nov. 7

Khrushchev Reports Red Nation Could OK Agreement with U. S.

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet newspaper hinted today Russia will launch a second Sputnik (earth satellite) "more perfected than the existing one" on Nov. 7, the 40th anniversary of the Soviet Communist regime.

The hint came in the newspaper Trud in a dispatch from its London correspondent which added that "soon flights will be possible to the Moon, Mars and Venus."

Two visiting British members of Parliament quoted Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev as saying "we have even more things up our sleeves."

The MPs, Conservatives Cyril Osborne and Capt. Henry Kerby, talked for 80 minutes with the Communist leader about the Soviet intercontinental ballistic missile and other subjects.

They said Khrushchev told them the missile is "only one of the many things we are doing. Our intercontinental ballistic rocket shows that it's no good sending humanly controlled machines against missiles. The age of bombers is over."

Osborne, who said he talked with President Eisenhower in the United States two months ago, said that what Khrushchev told them about rocket weapons "sounded almost exactly like what American officers told me when I visited Redstone Arsenal in Alabama two months ago."

"I TOLD Khrushchev the Americans had described rockets which they said they could throw across the world with great accuracy. They could cover 3,000 miles and hit a baseball field."

Khrushchev, Osborne added, had no comment on this.

But, Khrushchev said the Soviet government will agree to international control of earth satellites and all pilotless missiles—as part of a general Russian - American agreement to coexist peacefully.

In an interview in Moscow Monday with James Reston, Washington bureau chief of the New York Times who is visiting the Soviet capital, Khrushchev said an agreement on peaceful coexistence would remove any problem of controlling new scientific devices.

"The Soviet Communist party leader gave no indication, however, that the Moscow regime was prepared to modify the political or disarmament proposals previously rejected by the United States," Reston reported.

"On the contrary, he was sharply critical of United States policy in the Middle East and Germany, charged that Secretary of State Dulles was trying to drive Turkey into war with Syria, and asserted that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircraft and missile stocks which kept part of their big initial gains Monday in response to the news of Russia's man - made moon were irregular to day. Most steels were on the downside in continued uncertainty about the industry outlook.

Martin Co., maker of the American earth satellite, continued to forge ahead, adding more than $1. General Dynamics, which like Martin is working on an intercontinental ballistic missile, also rose more than $1. Republic Aviation, which is planning a layoff, another 2,500 to 3,000 men, was off around $1 as were Douglas and Boeing. United Aircraft also fell.

Second Test Completed

Only 2.3 Pct. Suspects Found in Brucellosis Test in Fayette County

The second area milk ring brucellosis test has now been completed in Fayette County.

Only 2.3 per cent of the 522 herds submitting milk samples were classified as suspect herds. The 12 suspect herds will be given a blood test in the near future to determine if there are animals that are positive carriers of brucellosis.

The records show there were 6,237 dairy cattle in the 522 herds tested.

Dr. Bill Wise, a federal veterinarian for this area said he was "very happy with the low incidence of suspect herds." The first milk ring test held last November showed 9.9 per cent suspect herds. This was considered an exceptionally low rate for the first test.

A change in the brucellosis program has now been put into effect to comply with a new state law, which went into effect July 24. Previously the program has been a voluntary one. Now blood-testing of the cows, which produce suspicious milk samples, is compulsory. It also will be compulsory to blood-test those animals from which a milk sample has not been submitted. In addition, all beef breeding animals must be blood-tested.

FARMERS who have feeder cattle may secure a feeder cattle permit from the state veterinarian's office. This permit will enable them to pass the blood-testing of heifers fed out and sold for market, provided they are kept separate from the rest of the breeding animals.

In the near future veterinarians will go from farm to farm to check the cattle on the premises. If the farmer can show a negative milk ring card, nothing more is asked. If a farmer has a certified herd, nothing more is asked.

was following a Hitlerite policy in West Germany."

KHRUSHCHEV said Moscow was amending its disarmament proposals to provide for inspection of rocket-launching sites. He explained that planes are "in decline" as a weapon, that bombers lack height and speed for modern combat and are vulnerable to rocket attack, and that fighter planes move so fast they are not effective in air-to-air combat.

Before a "reasonable agreement" can be reached between the Soviet Union and the United States, Khrushchev said, the West must concede that Russia, China and other states exist as Communist states and must stop basing its policy "on the theory that some internal upheaval is going to destroy these states."

Khrushchev continued that the Soviet Union recognizes the existence of capitalist states with a different philosophy. It is "ready for peaceful competition with these states in all fields, he added, and if both sides approach each other as equals there is not a single question in the world that could not be solved."

The interview took place in Khrushchev's private office on the fifth floor of the headquarters of the Communist Party Central Committee. The party boss, using an interpreter, read prepared statements on a list of topics submitted to him in advance, then answered supplementary questions put to him by Reston on each topic.

Khrushchev charged that the United States is responsible for all troubles between it and the Soviet Union because it is trying to negotiate as if the United States is strong and Russia is weak.

THE SOVIET leader said his country has every kind of rocket required in modern war—intercontinental, intermediate and short-range for front-line use. He said the Soviet arsenal was completely adequate for the country's defense. "His recital of Soviet power," Reston wrote, "also made it clear that the Soviet Union was not prepared to discuss arms limitation from a position of weakness. He seemed to be saying: we are anxious to limit arms of all kinds but we want the world to know that we have them."

Khrushchev added that he did not imply the Soviet Union is ahead in the development of all these weapons. He explained that the Soviets might be ahead on one thing today, but the United States would have it tomorrow and vice versa.

He termed such competition harmful and said the Soviets did not want it, that they want peace.

Bedclothing Damaged In Trailer Home Blaze

Damage was done to blankets and a mattress in a fire at the trailer home of Forest Cramblit, on Fourth St. between Maple and Pine Sts., at 10:17 p. m. Monday.

Cramblit had the blaze practically extinguished by the time firemen arrived. Fire Chief George Hall said he is "pretty sure the blaze was caused by smoking in bed."

done. However, if there are dairy or beef breeding cattle on the farm which have not been certified or do not have a negative milk ring test, they must be blood-tested.

After all the herds are blood-tested, or found negative to the brucellosis milk ring test, Fayette County will be certified as a modified brucellosis-free area for three years. Plans call for Ohio to be a modified-free area by 1959.

Here is the breakdown by township, showing the number of samples and the number of suspects in the recent milk ring brucellosis test:

Union 108 and 3; Concord 40 and 1; Madison 43 and 0; Paint 61 and 2; Jasper 47 and 0; Marion 49 and 2; Wayne 34 and 2; Perry 27 and 1; Green 22 and 0 and Jefferson 91 and 1.

Drunken Driver Draws Fine, Jail

Truck Driver Unhurt In Route 35 Accident

A New Vienna man pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday to drunken driving, just a few hours after he wrapped his late-model sedan around a tree on Creek Rd. about four miles south of Washington C. H.

Fined $200 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail was Glenn Little, 33. His driving rights also were suspended for a year.

Little, who has a previous conviction for drunken driving in this Court several years ago, told Sheriff Orland Hays he was rounding a curve about 12:20 a. m. and "just didn't make it."

He was treated in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital for elbow bruises. The car was demolished.

A Florida truck driver escaped injury in an accident about 5 a. m. on Route 35 at the Bogus Rd. intersection.

Jimmie W. Cooper, 27, of Pompano Beach, told Sheriff Hays another car forced him to drive into the ditch where he knocked down a farm fence and damaged the radiator and bumper of his tractor-trailer rig.

Owner of the fence is Frank Carr. A $20 bond posted by Robert E. Feiwel, 28, of Chicago, Ill., on a charge of crossing a yellow line, was forfeited when the defendant failed to appear.

Directed Verdict Ends BUC Case In Fayette Court

A second directed verdict within a week has been ordered in Fayette County Common Pleas Court by Judge John P. Case.

The Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, Columbus, in behalf of Howard Jett, 617 Fourth St., brought suit against Wayne Hoop, 1134 Gregg St., for recovery of $1,842. The Bureau claimed that Hoop was an employee of Jett in a tree-trimming enterprise in June 1954, at which time Jett was injured in a fall from a tree. The accident occurred in Wooster.

In presenting his case, Hoop said that three men worked together in Wooster; himself, Jett and James Dowler. Each solicited jobs, and each received the pay from jobs he obtained. However, in the matter of accounting, all expenses incurred by the three was taken from the money they received for the jobs and the remainder was then split in three equal shares. With all three of the men being experienced in such work, Hoop claimed that no "boss" was involved and that there was no employer.

Jett was the only witness for the Bureau and after his testimony had been heard, Judge Case instructed the jury to find in favor of the defendant, ruling "that reasonable minds would not differ that the state had failed to prove that the defendant had three employees."

Hearing Scheduled In Holdup Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—A hearing has been set for next Monday for two men charged with holding up the Uniontown Savings & Loan Assn.

They are Carl Lee Jr., 22, and Joseph Robert Irvine, 22, both of Lakemore, an Akron suburb, who demanded the hearing when arraigned Monday before U. S. Commissioner H. A. Horn. They are held in county jail under $25,000 bond each.

Ralph Garduno, 21, also of Lakemore, who was arraigned Saturday before U. S. Commissioner J. Stewart Ake in Canton, was brought here with Lee and Irvine. He also demanded a hearing on the robbery warrant and it was set for Wednesday. He also is in county jail in default of bail.

Pomona Officers Get Early Start

Regular Meeting Thursday Night

Due to some unexpected developments and conflict in dates, Thursday night's regular meeting of Fayette County Pomona Grange will be "conducted" by the new officers before they are formally installed.

Actually, the new officers will not be in official charge of the meeting; rather, the retiring master, Loren C. Johnson, will open the meeting formally and then call on the new officers to assume the positions to which they were elected to carry on for experience, with the present officers backing them up.

This procedure was adopted, Johnson explained, because the next Pomona meeting will not be held until more than a month after the new officers are formally installed on Oct. 14 at the all-county installation ceremonies to be held at Marshall Grange at Jeffersonville. The installation of the Pomona and subordinate Grange officers will be conducted then by a degree team from Pickaway County.

THE INCOMING Pomona officers, who will get preliminary experience Thursday night, are: Charles B. Cook, master; Joe Fisher, overseer; Madge Winter, lecturer; Howard Barney, steward; Cecil Reeb, assistant steward; Cecil Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. Rose E. Smith, secretary; Kenneth Arnold, gatekeeper; Evelyn Handley, Ceres; Dorothy Eckle, Pomona; Cecil Smith, Flora, and Lorene Sollars, lady assistant steward.

One of the features of the evening will be the windup of the contest at which the champion divinity candy maker of the county will be named.

Inasmuch as not all of the subordinate Granges have held their own contests, all the entries from these will be judged first. The winners from each Grange then will be entered in the competition with the winners from the Granges which have completed their contests.

Host for Thursday night's Pomona meeting, which will be held in the Farm Bureau auditorium, will be the Good Hope Grange.

Psychiatrist Says GI Mentally Ill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The murder charge court martial of Jimmie L. Henderson continues today with further testimony of Dr. Bernard L. Diamond, a psychiatrist called by the defense.

Dr. Diamond testified Monday the 21-year-old sailor from Marin City, Calif., is legally sane but said: "I believe him to be mentally ill, having a very sick and disordered mind."

Henderson, a Negro, is charged with shooting a white naval officer May 28.

Diamond said Henderson planned to kill Ens. Arthur Morris of Stow, Ohio, aboard the USS Uvalde "to show the world a white man cannot shove a Negro around."

Italian Voyagers Victims of Fraud

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Bound for Venezuela, the 10 Italians loaded their luggage on the boat and kissed the friends and relatives from their home village farewell.

An hour later the voyage was over. They were on the ferry between Naples and the Isle of Capri, just across the bay.

The story was told in court Monday and Pasquale Corvino, a fugitive, was sentenced in absentia to 10 months in prison on a charge of cheating. He had collected $300 from each of the 10, promising them passage to Venezuela and jobs when they arrived. Instead he put them on the ferry and then disappeared.

Working Drawings Authorized For New School in Eastside; Mrs. Hopkins Named Principal

Preliminary plans for the proposed new Eastside elementary school building at Willard and Elm Sts., were approved by the Washington C. H. School Board at its regular meeting Monday night. The board then authorized the architects, McLaughlin & Keil of Lima, to proceed with the working drawings and specifications.

The proposed building would be located on a 30-acre tract, on which the school board already has a purchase option. Plans call for 15 classrooms and the cost is estimated at $18,000 per room, or a total of $270,000.

The new building would replace the present old Eastside building at Columbus Ave. and Willard St.

Funds for the building were included in the $845,000 bond issue approved last November by the voters. Also included were funds for a new elementary school building in Belle Aire. The bonds have not been issued on advice of the board's bond attorneys.

Discussion of the new Eastside School building occupied much of the relatively short meeting of the board.

It did, however, named Mrs. Ruth Hopkins principal of the Central School at the standard $600 a year increase in salary. Mrs. Hopkins, who has been acting principal since the start of school this fall, resigned as principal of the Eastside School last summer because, she told the board she wanted to be relieved of the extra duties as principal. However, she agreed to take over the principalship of the Central School until a qualified successor can be employed.

MRS. DONNA Jean Hanks was added to the substitute teacher list as a vocal music teacher.

Supt. W. A. Smith reported to the board that the new boilers in the high school had been started for the first time Monday. Just installed, they are heated by gas with a stand-by supply of oil.

The board approved the 1957-58 basketball budget of $2,099.60 that had been adopted by the high school athletic board. The budget calls for $1,290 for game expenses (officials, transportation, guarantees to other schools and extra help) and $809.60 for equipment. There are 18 games on the WHS schedule this season, about half of them at home.

The board authorized payment of bills amounting to $43,220.50, including $34,829.06 for payroll. Fred Rost, the board's clerk-treasurer, was not at the meeting. He was released from Memorial Hospital only a little more than a week ago and is convalescing at his home from a combination of bursitis and a heart ailment.

Price of Land On Mars Rockets

TOKYO (AP)—The price of real estate on Mars has jumped fivefold in Japan since the Soviet satellite started whizzing through space.

The Japan Space Travel Assn. founded last year to whip up interest in outer space, says it has already sold more than 40,000 acres of Mars land, most of it for 200 yen (55 cents) an acre.

"Since the satellite boom, land on Mars is selling for 1,000 yen ($2.75) an acre," Toraji Kishida, the association secretary, said.

Second Test Completed

Only 2.3 Pct. Suspects Found in Brucellosis Test in Fayette County

The second area milk ring brucellosis test has now been completed in Fayette County.

Only 2.3 per cent of the 522 herds submitting milk samples were classified as suspect herds. The 12 suspect herds will be given a blood test in the near future to determine if there are animals that are positive carriers of brucellosis.

The records show there were 6,237 dairy cattle in the 522 herds tested.

Dr. Bill Wiseman, federal veterinarian for this area said he was "very happy with the low incidence of suspect herds." The first milk ring test held last November showed 9.5 per cent suspect herds. This was considered an exceptionally low rate for the first test.

A change in the brucellosis program has now been put into effect to comply with a new state law, which went into effect July 24. Previously the program has been a voluntary one. Now blood-testing of the cows, which produce suspicious milk samples, is compulsory. It also will be compulsory to blood-test those animals from which a milk sample has not been submitted. In addition, all beef breeding animals must be blood-tested.

FARMERS who have feeder cattle may secure a feeder cattle permit from the state veterinarian's office. This permit will enable them to pass the blood-testing of heifers fed out and sold for market, provided they are kept separate from the rest of the breeding animals.

In the near future veterinarians will go from farm-to-farm to check the cattle on the premises. If the farmer can show a negative milk ring card, nothing more is asked. If a farmer has a certified herd, nothing more is done. However, if there are dairy or beef breeding cattle on the farm which have not been certified or do not have a negative milk ring test, they must be blood-tested.

After all the herds are blood-tested, or found negative to the brucellosis milk ring test, Fayette County will be certified as a modified brucellosis-free area for three years. Plans call for Ohio to be a modified-free area by 1959.

Here is the breakdown by township, showing the number of samples and the number of suspects in the recent milk ring brucellosis test:

Union 108 and 3; Concord 40 and 1; Madison 43 and 0; Paint 61 and 2; Jasper 47 and 0; Marion 49 and 2; Wayne 34 and 2; Perry 27 and 1; Green 22 and 0 and Jefferson 91 and 1.

Drunken Driver Draws Fine, Jail

Truck Driver Unhurt In Route 35 Accident

A New Vienna man pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday to drunken driving, just a few hours after he wrapped his late-model sedan around a tree on Creek Rd. about four miles south of Washington C. H.

Fined $200 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail was Glenn Little, 33. His driving rights also were suspended for a year.

Little, who has a previous conviction for drunken driving in this Court several years ago, told Sheriff Orland Hays he was rounding a curve about 12:20 a. m. and "just didn't make it."

He was treated in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital for elbow bruises. The car was demolished.

A Florida truck driver escaped injury in an accident about 5 a. m. on Route 35 at the Bogus Rd. intersection.

Jimmie W. Cooper, 27, of Pompano Beach, told Sheriff Hays another car forced him to drive into the ditch where he knocked down a farm fence and damaged the radiator and bumper of his tractor-trailer rig.

Owner of the fence is Frank Carr. A $20 bond posted by Robert E. Feiwel, 28, of Chicago, Ill., on a charge of crossing a yellow line, was forfeited when the defendant failed to appear.

Directed Verdict Ends BUC Case In Fayette Court

A second directed verdict within a week has been ordered in Fayette County Common Pleas Court by Judge John P. Case.

The Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, Columbus, in behalf of Howard Jett, 617 Fourth St., brought suit against Wayne Hoop, 1134 Gregg St., for recovery of $1,842. The Bureau claimed that Hoop was an employer of Jett in a tree-trimming enterprise in June 1954, at which time Jett was injured in a fall from a tree. The accident occurred in Wooster.

In presenting his case, Hoop said that three men worked together in Wooster; himself, Jett and James Dowler. Each solicited jobs, and each received the pay from jobs he obtained. However, in the matter of accounting, all expenses incurred by the three was taken from the money they received for the jobs and the remainder was then split in three equal shares. With all three of the men being experienced in such work, Hoop claimed that no "boss" was involved and that there was no employer.

Jett was the only witness for the Bureau and after his testimony had been heard, Judge Case instructed the jury to find in favor of the defendant, ruling "that reasonable minds would not differ that the state had failed to prove that the defendant had three employees."

Reston wrote, "also made it clear that the Soviet Union was not prepared to discuss arms limitation from a position of weakness. He seemed to be saying: we are anxious to limit arms of all kinds but we want the world to know that we have them."

Khrushchev added that he did not imply the Soviet Union is ahead in the development of all these weapons. He explained that the Soviets might be ahead on one thing today, but the United States would have it tomorrow and vice versa.

He termed such competition harmful and said the Soviets did not want it, that they want peace.

Damage to blankets and a mattress in a fire at the trailer home of Forest Cramblit, on Fourth St. between Maple and Pine Sts., at 10:17 p. m. Monday.

Cramblit had the blaze practically extinguished by the time firemen arrived. Fire Chief George Hall said he is "pretty sure the blaze was caused by smoking in bed."

Pomona Officers Get Early Start

Regular Meeting Thursday Night

Due to some unexpected developments and conflict in dates, Thursday night's regular meeting of Fayette County Pomona Grange will be "conducted" by the new officers before they are formally installed.

Actually, the new officers will not be in official charge of the meeting; rather, the retiring master, Loren C. Johnson, will open the meeting formally and then call on the new officers to assume the positions to which they were elected to carry on for experience, with the present officers backing them up.

This procedure was adopted, Johnson explained, because the next Pomona meeting will not be held until more than a month after the new officers are formally installed on Oct. 14 at the all-county installation ceremonies to be held at Marshall Grange at Jeffersonville. The installation of the Pomona and subordinate Grange officers will be conducted then by a degree team from Pickaway County.

THE INCOMING Pomona officers, who will get preliminary experience Thursday night, are: Charles B. Cook, master; Joe Fisher, overseer; Madge Winter, lecturer; Howard Barney, steward; Cecil Rech, assistant steward; Mrs. Ralph Nisley, chaplain; Homer Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. Roscoe Smith, secretary; Kenneth Arnold, gatekeeper; Evelyn Handley, Ceres; Dorothy Eckle, Pomona; Cecil Smith, Flora, and Lorene Sollars, lady assistant steward.

One of the features of the evening will be the windup of the contest at which the champion divinity candy maker of the county will be named.

Inasmuch as not all of the subordinate Granges have held their own contests, all the entries from these will be judged first. The winners from each Grange then will be entered in the competition with the winners from the Granges which have completed their contests.

Host for Thursday night's Pomona meeting, which will be held in the Farm Bureau auditorium, will be the Good Hope Grange.

Psychiatrist Says GI Mentally Ill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The murder charge court martial of Jimmie L. Henderson continues today with further testimony of Dr. Bernard L. Diamond, a psychiatrist called by the defense.

Dr. Diamond testified Monday the 21-year-old sailor from Marin City, Calif., is legally sane but said: "I believe him to be mentally ill, having a very sick and disordered mind."

Henderson, a Negro, is charged with shooting a white naval officer May 28.

Diamond said Henderson planned to kill Ens. Arthur Morris of Stow, Ohio, aboard the USS Uvalde "to show the world a white man cannot shove a Negro around."

Italian Voyagers Victims of Fraud

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Bound for Venezuela, the 10 Italians loaded their luggage on the boat and kissed the friends and relatives from their home village farewell.

An hour later the voyage was over. They were on the ferry between Naples and the Isle of Capri, just across the bay.

The story was told in court Monday and Pasquale Corvino, a fugitive, was sentenced in absentia to 10 months in prison on a charge of cheating. He had collected $300 from each of the 10, promising them passage to Venezuela and jobs when they arrived. Instead he put them on the ferry and then disappeared.

Working Drawings Authorized For New School in Eastside; Mrs. Hopkins Named Principal

Preliminary plans for the proposed new Eastside elementary school building at Willard and Elm Sts., were approved by the Washington C. H. School Board at its regular meeting Monday night. The board then authorized the architects, McLaughlin & Keil of Lima, to proceed with the working drawings and specifications.

The proposed building would be located on a 30-acre tract, on which the school board already has a purchase option. Plans call for 15 classrooms and the cost is estimated at $18,000 per room, or a total of $270,000.

The new building would replace the present old Eastside building at Columbus Ave. and Willard St.

Funds for the building were included in the $645,000 bond issue approved last November by the voters. Also included were funds for a new elementary school building in Belle Aire. The bonds have not been issued on advice of the board's bond attorneys.

Discussion of the new Eastside School building occupied much of the relatively short meeting of the board.

It did, however, named Mrs. Ruth Hopkins principal of the Central School at the standard $600 a year increase in salary. Mrs. Hopkins, who has been acting principal since the start of school this fall, resigned as principal of the Eastside School last summer because, she told the board she wanted to be relieved of the extra duties as principal. However, she agreed to take over the principalship of the Central School until a qualified successor can be employed.

TOKYO (AP)—The price of real estate on Mars has jumped fivefold in Japan since the Soviet satellite started whizzing through space.

The Japan Space Travel Assn. founded last year to whip up interest in outer space, says it has already sold more than 40,000 acres of Mars land, most of it for 200 yen (55 cents) an acre.

"Since the satellite boom, land on Mars is selling for 1,000 yen ($2.75) an acre," Toraji Kishida, the association secretary, said.

City School Superintendent Angry, Harassed, Sorrowful

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of articles concerning Little Rock's school integration problems by a Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter who has maintained a close watch on the scene.

By RELMAN MORIN
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A more thoroughly angry, harassed and sorrowful man than Virgil T. Blossom would be hard to find today.

Blossom is superintendent of schools in Little Rock and architect of the "Little Rock Plan" designed to integrate its schools.

He worked on it for three years, inching carefully toward a solution of the thousand-and-one problems. Two months ago he thought he had it licked.

Then came disaster.

On the night of Sept. 2, the night before Central High School reopened for the fall term, Gov. Orval Faubus suddenly put National Guardsmen around the high school. His orders — keep out Negroes.

The "Little Rock Plan" went up the chimney. What's more, it may never be salvaged. First, the federal courts answered Faubus. Then, President Eisenhower put steel in their rulings by the startling order that brought federal troops to Arkansas.

Integration has taken place, in the sense that nine Negro children, under guard, are sitting in classes in the school.

But in the process, a fine community has been wounded to the quick. People who may have had no pronounced feeling about integration before, now have taken sides. Deep emotion has welled up. It is polarized today in two white-hot points. There is little doubt that the segregationist point is bigger and hotter.

Hence, Blossom's plan — a long-range plan — is certain to encounter resistance he thought had been dispelled.

Virgil Blossom is a big man. He stands 6-foot-3, weighs 250 pounds, is a former director of athletics. He will be 51 this month. He is married and has two daughters, Bette Sue, 19, and Gail 16. He was born in Brookfield, Mo.

The Capitol Citizens Council, a hard-core segregationist organization, likes to harp on the fact that Brookfield is "right next to the Iowa line." This, in their reasoning, makes Blossom a "Yankee," a foreigner who does not understand Arkansas, although he went to the University of Arkansas and has lived in the state more than 20 years.

Blossom is a stubborn fighter. With candid pride, he says of the plan he devised:

"It is airtight legally. It preserves educational standards for all students. And it is designed to maintain good community relations."

"We think it's the best plan put forward yet. So it's certain to be advanced in other communities in the South. That's why the segregationists are fighting it so hard."

Blossom started working on it in May, 1954. At that time, the school board announced it would comply with the Supreme Court decision declaring segregation unconstitutional. But Blossom said then, and still says, time is the all-important factor.

"You need time to remove the psychological barrier present in both races," he says.

The essentials of the plan are: 1. Phasing integration over an unspecified period of years. It begins with the high schools, then applies to junior high schools, and finally the primary grades.

2. Scheduling it in terms of finances, facilities, and problems that develop as the process moves forward.

It has a unique third feature. Any student, white or Negro, who by reason of his address would normally be assigned to a school where his race is in the minority, is permitted to go out of his district and enroll in one which has a majority of his race.

The result was interesting. This fall, all 328 white students in the predominantly Negro area around Horace Mann High School elected to go to Central.

There are 200 Negro students listed in the Central High area. In a court action, 33 petitioned to enter. Later, some changed their minds. Others failed to meet the requirements in Blossom's "screening" plan, which is based primarily on educational attainments, health, deportment, citizenship, etc.

Only the "Little Rock nine" tried to enroll in Central.

"I've always said the majority of people do not want integration," says Blossom. "But our job on the school board is to comply with the law as set forth by the Supreme Court."

As the planning went forward, Blossom was out talking to parents, teachers and civic groups, explaining it. He appeared more than 200 times. He answered questions, invited criticisms.

He is a formidable salesman. He quotes an ardent segregationist as saying after one of the meetings, "doggone, Virgil, you almost sold me. I couldn't think of a good argument to give you."

But others did. The National Assn. For The Advancement Of Colored People twice challenged the "Little Rock Plan" in the courts. The NAACP petitioned for total integration, at once, in all grades.

U. S. District Judge John E. Miller, ruling against the NAACP, approved the plan as it stood. He is an Arkansan — not, as Faubus described U. S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies, an "imported judge."

Meanwhile, there were rumblings on the segregationist side.

In the 1956 general elections, they put three anti-integration acts on the ballot. The proposals carried by 56 per cent in the state and by 52 per cent in Pulaski County, embracing Little Rock.

However, last March, Henry V. Rath and Wayne Upton — running on an out-and-out integrationist program — were elected by almost 2-1 majorities to the school board. One of the men defeated was Robert Brown, president of the Capitol Citizens Council.

On May 24, the school board announced that "the school year of 1957-58 may be the first phase of this (integration) program."

On Aug. 22, Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia made a speech in Little Rock. He said:

"Constitutional government would be dead if the South surrenders operation of her schools to the operations of the federal government. This issue is the issue that overshadows all other questions."

Pressure was building. Finally, on the night of Sept. 2, Faubus made his move.

"The Little Rock Plan" went on the shelf. But Blossom says today:

"Integration is here and I think it's here to stay. The court order must be obeyed. I believe it will all work out."

Other disagree.

Question Raised--"Who is Most Important?"

Just who are the more important individuals who must receive shots to protect them against the Asian influenza?

Most of us have heard that question sharply discussed since health departments over the country have indicated that those who should have priority are people who hold security and strategic positions.

Perhaps that is the right way to look at it but the question has been raised in several places and in several states, as to the propriety of such decisions.

One paper recently asked, "Just who is important?" It then proceeded to further ask, "Could it be the fellow that cleans the streets or the fellow who orders him to do it? Could it be the minister or the lawyer, the child going to school or the teacher?"

In one midwestern city this question was also posed by an advisory committee of the state's health department which had met to lay down the rules for distribution of vaccine to combat Asian flu. The committee finally suggested that those in health and other essential services, and those in "health dangers, obtain the vaccine first." Other than that, the committee said it is up to the doctors.

In commenting on the situation one newspaper came up with this:

"Let's look around and see whom we can best spare to be laid up a few weeks with Asian flu. In our own office, of course an outsider might say that first you shoot the editor. But what good is an editor, or a reporter, or an ad salesman, unless he has a typesetter to handle the stuff he produces, and a pressman to print it? And suppose it gets printed, of what use it is without a carrier boy to deliver it? On the other hand, what would the carrier boy deliver if the reporter and ad man didn't provide something in the first place for him to deliver?

"On the municipal scene, certainly the cops and firemen should get shots. But whose car would the policeman ticket if the drivers were all laid off with flu? And if everyone else is in bed, who would turn in the alarm for the fireman to answer?"

"Then among the uptown stores surely we could get by a while without selling a pair of shoes. But could we? For want of an adequate shoe, a doctor may stay home, or a nurse may catch pneumonia. We might let the lawyers loaf in bed a few days, but then the estate that isn't filed today might mean hardship and illness to the widow who did get a shot of Asian flu vaccine because of her age, and what different what laid her low?"

"The point is that our society is so complex and intricate that it is a wonder it functions at all. Each morning, we get up, go to work, bumble through the day, and at the end wonder if our little gear has meshed in the big cogwheel at all. But let one gear jar loose, and the whole machinery is threatened.

"No man is an island unto himself," a philosopher once said. But sometimes it takes a threat like Asian flu to remind us of it.

Henry Ford Liked One Model

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That Henry Ford, asked on his 50th wedding anniversary to give his formula for a successful married life, replied it was the same formula he had used to make his automobile successful, "stick to one model."

That Dwight Eisenhower is the only President who doesn't have at least one town named after him, but let's wait and see.

That about 16 million people in the United States have some form of allergy—something you can't sneeze about.

That even in captivity all the members of a herd of elephants never sleep at the same time. A few always stand guard while the others doze.

That a survey showed 10 out of 72 persons didn't know on what day of the week they were born. Do you?

That Mary Mayo claims worry kills more people than work because more people worry than work.

That Reno, Nev., is about 100 miles farther west than Los Angeles and Jacksonville, Fla., is farther west than Cleveland.

That to join the Bald Head Club of America you must have a bald spot at least three inches in diameter—which makes me eligible about three times!

That a fingernail on the Statue of Liberty measures 13 by 10 inches—and despite all the world threats to freedom, the old girl doesn't chew her nails.

That D. H. Toller-Bond says a boy becomes a man when he walks around a puddle of water instead of through it.

That the bartender at the Sutton Restaurant says alcohol will preserve practically anything except secrets!

That William Shakespeare,

who could act as well as write, also was regarded as a talented dancer.

That the eight tallest buildings in the United States (not counting TV and radio towers) are all located in New York City.

That Al Cooper likes to tell of the Texan who flunked an easy question on a TV quiz show. He couldn't remember whose face was on a dollar bill.

That they are featuring a "has-been cocktail" at the Cafe Grinzig here—one gulp and you're all through.

That Tula Ellice Finklea is not Latin for a rare plant or insect; it's just Cyd Charisse's real name.

That it was Montaigne who wrote, "I have never seen a greater monster or miracle in the world than myself." Can't we all say the same thing about ourselves?

Whose Fault Is Faubus?

By George Sokolsky

The events at Little Rock belong to history; the blame cannot be assessed as long as political motivation continues to play a part and that will be so until both the 1958 and the 1960 elections have passed.

The facts are not difficult to state:

1. Arkansas has not been notorious for racial difficulties. It does not have a long tradition as a slave-holding state, having only been admitted to the Union in 1836. Its population came mostly from Tennessee and Missouri and Mississippi. It was carved out of French Louisiana and its first settlers were Spaniards and French.

During the Civil War, the slave-holding planters were naturally for the Confederacy and carried the state into it, but most of the farmers in the Ozark and Ouachita mountains were very poor, and seem to have been indifferent. The people of the Ozarks, in particular, are poor, illiterate, and suffered terribly from the depression of the 1930s. The "arkies" who migrated to California during those years were among the most impoverished of Americans.

2. Orval Faubus is a product of that part of the Arkansas population which produced the "Arkies." On Oct. 19, 1954 I called attention to the fact that Orval Faubus attended Commonwealth College. A Communist institution, the funds for which were provided by the Garland Fund, the Carnegie Fund (Foundation?) and Mrs. Leonard Elmhirst. It was placed on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. Lucien Koch was the director of Commonwealth College. He testified before a joint committee of the Arkansas Legislature:

"Q. Do you believe in God?"

"A. No."

"Q. To get a further background, may I ask you believe in the Constitution of the United States?"

"A. I am convinced that I believe in it more thoroughly than the planters of the eastern part of Arkansas."

"Q. Do you believe in the Constitution of the United States?"

"A. I answered that question."

"Q. Do you respect the American flag?"

"A. I refuse to answer because I consider it as having no bearing on the investigation. I refuse to answer without advice of counsel."

"Q. Do you believe in capitalism?"

"A. I do not believe in capitalism, as it is now operated."

The courses given at Commonwealth College were unusual for an American institution and the teaching staff was equally unusual. The teachers were not paid salaries, but as Mildred Price, one of them, testified, they got room, board, laundry and some small pocket money.

Orval Faubus says that he attended this college for only a short time. But it was long enough for him to have been elected president of the student body and a member of the disciplinary committee. Faubus also attended the All-Southern Conference for Civil and Trade Union Rights at Chattanooga, Tenn. as a representative of Commonwealth College.

This does not mean that Gov. Orval Faubus was ever a Communist. It does mean that he came under unorthodox influences early in life.

3. Faubus has no profession. He is not a man of means. He was built up in Arkansas by the liberal group, headed by Harry Ashmore, a newspaper editor. He has apparently broke with this element. Twice he was elected Gov. through their support and the Negro vote. To be elected for a third term or to go to the United States Senate to succeed either Sen. McClellan who comes up for election in 1960 or Sen. Fulbright in 1962, he needs the support of the conservative or reactionary elements whose numbers have increased over the Negro question.

4. It will be noted that neither Sen. McClellan nor Sen. Fulbright have taken a public position on the Little Rock situation. Both have build significant national and even international positions by their work in the United States Senate, but obviously, to remain in the Senate, they have to be elected in Arkansas.

As is so usual with American politics, the ultimate determination of Orval Faubus's who does not vote in Arkansas, but in a struggle for power between the followers of Orval Faubus and those of Harry Ashmore and Winthrop Rockefeller.

If Faubus wins renomination for governor for a third term or nomination to the United States Senate, which in Arkansas is tantamount to election, it will influence local attitudes toward the Negro question throughout the South.

Excessive Smoking Sometimes Harmful

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

I'd like to add a little fuel to the fire which is raging about the advantages and disadvantages of smoking.

But I'm not going to talk about cancer. Instead, I'd like to discuss some other ailments in which excessive smoking apparently plays a part.

If you have asthma or suffer from hay fever year after year, I suggest that you give up smoking, at least for two months or so, to see whether it will ease or eliminate the symptoms. If it does, then you know what you will have to do.

Now I know it is not easy to stop smoking. Certainly it isn't easy for a doctor to convince some patients to end the habit.

But recent tests have proved that persons with frequent colds, chest pain, coughing, difficult breathing upon exertion and, of course, asthma and hay fever, have been helped by stopping the smoking habit.

Chronic coughing, especially, has been alleviated in many instances simply by giving up smoking.

Two University of Virginia physicians carefully examined 25 patients with chronic cough and other respiratory disorders.

After an analysis, they reported that nonsmoking was the "sole cause of improvement" in 15 cases and "a major factor" in the remaining 10. Or, to put it more positively, the majority of the patients improved simply because they stopped smoking.

This was disclosed Monday at the inspection of the Lewis Flight Propulsion Laboratory of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the top government agency in air research.

These persons had been fairly heavy smokers over a long period of time. They had smoked an average of 28 years and only three of them smoked less than a pack a day. Some smoked as many as 45 cigarettes each day.

I don't imagine it was easy for them to break the smoking habit. But they did.

Answer: A fissure is a cracking of the membrane around the opening of the rectum. It is like an open sore, with pain, bleeding, itching and general rectal discomfort. It may be treated by local applications of silver nitrate. In some cases, surgery is necessary.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE PSYCHIATRIST at an Army base was having a hard time classifying an oddball caught in the draft until he extracted the admission that the draftee never went out with girls. "Aha," nodded the psychiatrist. "You don't like women, is that it?"

"On the contrary," the draftee assured him. "I sure like women. That's why my wife won't let me take out girls!"

Another new GI, on his first evening in camp, was handed a knife and a big sack of potatoes, and was told by the sergeant, "Peel away."

"They told me," grumbled the recruit, "that the 1957-model Army had potato-peeling machines."

"So they have," nodded the grinning sarge, "and you're the latest model."

A persistent personality staggered into the bar and demanded, "Give me the usual." So the bouncer threw him out.

Question Raised--"Who is Most Important?"

Just who are the more important individuals who must receive shots to protect them against the Asian influenza?

Most of us have heard that question sharply discussed since health departments over the country have indicated that those who should have priority are people who hold security and strategic positions.

Perhaps that is the right way to look at it but the question has been raised in several places and in several states, as to the propriety of such decisions.

One paper recently asked, "Just who is important?" It then proceeded to further ask, "Could it be the fellow that cleans the streets or the fellow who orders him to do it? Could it be the minister or the lawyer, the child going to school or the teacher?"

In one midwestern city this question was also posed by an advisory committee of the state's health department which had met to lay down the rules for distribution of vaccine to combat Asian flu. The committee finally suggested that those in health and other essential services, and those in "health dangers, obtain the vaccine first." Other than that, the committee said it is up to the doctors.

In commenting on the situation one newspaper came up with this:

"Let's look around and see whom we can best spare to be laid up a few weeks with Asian flu. In our own office, of course an outsider might say that first you shoot the editor. But what good is an editor, or a reporter, or an ad salesman, unless he has a typesetter to handle the stuff he produces, and a pressman to print it? And suppose it gets printed, of what use it is without a carrier boy to deliver it? On the other hand, what would the carrier boy deliver if the reporter and ad man didn't provide something in the first place for him to deliver?

"On the municipal scene, certainly the cops and firemen should get shots. But whose car would the policeman ticket if the drivers were all laid off with flu? And if everyone else is in bed, who would turn in the alarm for the fireman to answer?"

"Then among the uptown stores surely we could get by a while without selling a pair of shoes. But could we? For want of an adequate shoe, a doctor may stay home, or a nurse may catch pneumonia. We might let the lawyers loaf in bed a few days, but then the estate that isn't filed today might mean hardship and illness to the widow who did get a shot of Asian flu vaccine because of her age, and what different what laid her low?"

"The point is that our society is so complex and intricate that it is a wonder it functions at all. Each morning, we get up, go to work, bumble through the day, and at the end wonder if our little gear has meshed in the big cogwheel at all. But let one gear jar loose, and the whole machinery is threatened.

"No man is an island unto himself," a philosopher once said. But sometimes it takes a threat like Asian flu to remind us of it.

Henry Ford Liked One Model

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That Henry Ford, asked on his 50th wedding anniversary to give his formula for a successful married life, replied it was the same formula he had used to make his automobile successful, "stick to one model."

That Dwight Eisenhower is the only President who doesn't have at least one town named after him, but let's wait and see.

That about 16 million people in the United States have some form of allergy—something you can't sneeze about.

That even in captivity all the members of a herd of elephants never sleep at the same time. A few always stand guard while the others doze.

That a survey showed 10 out of 72 persons didn't know on what day of the week they were born. Do you?

That Mary Mayo claims worry kills more people than work because more people worry than work.

That Reno, Nev., is about 100 miles farther west than Los Angeles and Jacksonville, Fla., is farther west than Cleveland.

That to join the Bald Head Club of America you must have a bald spot at least three inches in diameter—which makes me eligible about three times!

That a fingernail on the Statue of Liberty measures 13 by 10 inches—and despite all the world threats to freedom, the old girl doesn't chew her nails.

That D. H. Toller-Bond says a boy becomes a man when he walks around a puddle of water instead of through it, that the bartender at the Sutton Restaurant says alcohol will preserve practically anything except secrets!

That William Shakespeare,

who could act as well as write, also was regarded as a talented dancer.

That the eight tallest buildings in the United States (not counting TV and radio towers) are all located in New York City.

That Al Cooper likes to tell of the Texan who flunked an easy question on a TV quiz show. He couldn't remember whose face was on a dollar bill.

That they are featuring a "has-been cocktail" at the Cafe Grinzig here—one gulp and you're all through.

That Tula Ellice Finklea is not Latin for a rare plant or insect; it's just Cyd Charisse's real name.

That it was Montaigne who wrote, "I have never seen a greater monster or miracle in the world than myself." Can't we all say the same thing about ourselves?

Whose Fault Is Faubus?

The events at Little Rock belong to history; the blame cannot be assessed as long as political motivation continues to play a part and that will be so until both the 1958 and the 1960 elections have passed.

The facts are not difficult to state:

1. Arkansas has not been notorious for racial difficulties. It does not have a long tradition as a slave-holding state, having only been admitted to the Union in 1836. Its population came mostly from Tennessee and Missouri and Mississippi. It was carved out of French Louisiana and its first settlers were Spaniards and French.

During the Civil War, the slave-holding planters were naturally for the Confederacy and carried the state into it, but most of the farmers in the Ozark and Ouachita mountains were very poor, and seem to have been indifferent. The people of the Ozarks, in particular, are poor, illiterate, and suffered terribly from the depression of the 1930s. The "arkies" who migrated to California during those years were among the most impoverished of Americans.

2. Orval Faubus is a product of that part of the Arkansas population which produced the "Arkies." On Oct. 19, 1954 I called attention to the fact that Orval Faubus attended Commonwealth College. A Communist institution, the funds for which were provided by the Garland Fund, the Carnegie Fund (Foundation?) and Mrs. Leonard Elmhirst. It was placed on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. Lucien Koch was the director of Commonwealth College. He testified before a joint committee of the Arkansas Legislature:

"Q. Do you believe in God?"

"A. No."

"Q. To get a further background, may I ask do you believe in the Constitution of the United States?"

"A. I am convinced that I believe in it more thoroughly than the planters of the eastern part of Arkansas."

"Q. Do you believe in the Constitution of the United States?"

"A. I answered that question."

"Q. Do you respect the American flag?"

"A. I refuse to answer because I consider it as having no bearing on the investigation. I refuse to answer without advice of counsel."

"Q. Do you believe in capitalism?"

"A. I do not believe in capitalism, as it is now operated."

The courses given at Commonwealth College were unusual for an American institution and the teaching staff was equally unusual. The teachers were not paid salaries, but as Mildred Price, one of them, testified, they got room, board, laundry and some small pocket money.

Orval Faubus says that he attended this college for only a short time. But it was long enough for him to have been elected president of the student body and a member of the disciplinary committee. Faubus also attended the All-Southern Conference for Civil and Trade Union Rights at Chattanooga, Tenn. as a representative of Commonwealth College.

This does not mean that Gov. Orval Faubus was ever a Communist. It does mean that he came under unorthodox influences early in life.

3. Faubus has no profession. He is not a man of means. He was built up in Arkansas by the liberal group, headed by Harry Ashmore, a newspaper editor. He has apparently broke with this element. Twice he was elected Gov. through their support and the Negro vote. To be elected for a third term or to go to the United States Senate to succeed either Sen. McClellan who comes up for election in 1960 or Sen. Fulbright in 1962, he needs the support of the conservative or reactionary elements whose numbers have increased over the Negro question.

4. It will be noted that neither Sen. McClellan nor Sen. Fulbright have taken a public position on the Little Rock situation. Both have build significant national and even international positions by their work in the United States Senate, but obviously, to remain in the Senate, they have to be elected in Arkansas.

As is so usual with American politics, the ultimate determination of Orval Faubus's who does not vote in Arkansas, but in a struggle for power between the followers of Orval Faubus and those of Harry Ashmore and Winthrop Rockefeller.

If Faubus wins renomination for governor for a third term or nomination to the United States Senate, which in Arkansas is tantamount to election, it will influence local attitudes toward the Negro question throughout the South.

Diet and Health Excessive Smoking Sometimes Harmful

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

I'd like to add a little fuel to the fire which is raging about the advantages and disadvantages of smoking.

But I'm not going to talk about cancer. Instead, I'd like to discuss some other ailments in which excessive smoking apparently plays a part.

If you have asthma or suffer from hay fever year after year, I suggest that you give up smoking, at least for two months or so, to see whether it will ease or eliminate the symptoms. If it does, then you know what you will have to do.

Now I know it is not easy to stop smoking. Certainly it isn't easy for a doctor to convince some patients to end the habit.

But recent tests have proved that persons with frequent colds, chest pain, coughing, difficult breathing upon exertion and, of course, asthma and hay fever, have been helped by stopping the smoking habit.

Chronic coughing, especially, has been alleviated in many instances simply by giving up smoking.

Two University of Virginia physicians carefully examined 25 patients with chronic cough and other respiratory disorders.

After an analysis, they reported that nonsmoking was the "sole cause of improvement" in 15 cases and "a major factor" in the remaining 10. Or, to put it more positively, the majority of the patients improved simply because they stopped smoking.

Four of these patients showed improvement within one to five days. Average time for maximum improvement was five weeks. All of the patients gained weight, from five to 32 pounds,

Investors Take Closer Look as Stocks Decline

Margins and Yields Getting Study as Doldrums Hit Trading

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — With stock prices on the downgrade most of the time in recent weeks and trading in the doldrums much of the time traders and investors are taking a closer look today at a number of things:

How high stock markets should be, yields on favorites at present prices, common shares with preferred or other corporate debt ahead of them at dividend time, profit margins of firms and industries, and what companies stand to gain by the ever changing American living habits.

Margin rules of the Federal Reserve Board aren't as close to traders as they once were — the percentage buying on margin is much lower today than in the 20's say. At the moment a buyer must put up 70 per cent in cash.

But the rules are close to a broker's heart because his income depends on commissions on sales and with the market volume low commissions are on the slim side. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, thinks that if the Federal Reserve let people put up only 50 per cent in cash, trading would pick up and the broker members would be happier.

So far the Federal Reserve isn't talking.

Yields on stocks are closer to the investor's heart. The long drop in prices has sweetened the yield for many favorites. The Exchange, monthly magazine of the big board, points out 20 common stocks in its October issue today that have long records of unbroken quarterly dividend payments and have fallen in price enough of late to make their yields more attractive.

Yield is found by dividing the price paid for a stock into the year's cash dividend income.

The exchange also lists 15 prominent stocks that have paid dividends every quarter for 20 to 75 years but have fair sized amounts of long term debt on which interest must be paid before shareholders are taken care of. The common share yield ranges from 1 1/2 to 7 per cent. In companies with no long term debt or preferred shares, the common stock owners share whatever there is to pay out, above what is retained for corporate business or growth. But the Exchange points out that interest on the fixed debt of corporations is deductible before corporate income taxes, and that helps common shareholders some.

The 1,071 companies with common stocks listed on the exchange reported sales last year of nearly 233 1/2 billion dollars, but net income after taxes of $16 1/2 billion, or a profit on sales of 7 per cent. Highest percentage was 20.8 for the financial companies and the lowest 2.8 for retail trade.

What industries and companies stand to gain if the trend toward more leisure time continues in the United States is explored by the Exchange. It notes that vacations of employed persons added up to 70 million weeks this year, and that the average factory week of 40 hours at present is expected by many observers to shrink to 36 in less than 10 years and maybe to 30 later on.

The Department of Commerce points out that Americans last year sharply boosted their spending for various products usually associated with recreation and leisure time. They spent 1 1/4 billion dollars on wheel goods, durable toys, sport equipment, boats and pleasure aircraft, a 65 per cent gain over 1955. They spent 1 1/2 billion on nondurable toys and sport supplies, a 55 per cent boost. The exchange lists 25 companies whose products, all or part, are

Radio Operator Hears 'Beeps' from Outer Space

Satellite Signals Picked Up Here

A long series of "beeps" coming at regular intervals through space to be picked up by a radio receiver admittedly are pretty hard to identify, but there's no doubt in the mind of Jack Yeoman that they came from the Russian sputnik satellite, circling the earth 500 miles out in space.

Yeoman picked up the signals six times Sunday and early Monday on his own amateur short wave radio which, incidentally, is a complex instrument and certainly not one an amateur, in the strict sense of the word, could use.

He got the signals the first time at about 2 p. m. Sunday, the first time he tried seriously to tune them in. Thereafter, they came in regularly at 95-minute intervals; this tallied precisely with reports of scientists, who have calculated the satellite is traveling at a speed of 18,000 miles an hour and circling the earth every 95 minutes.

THE SIGNALS came in on a frequency of 15 meters. Yeoman said he understood they also are being sent on 7 1/2 meters, but added that this band is used infrequently by radio amateurs. He said the signals were picked up "just a little off the amateur band" assigned by the Federal Communications Commission.

Yeoman said he could detect no code in the signals, which came in without a break, such as the break between words of Morse code signals. Each "beep" lasted about a second and the intervals between "beeps" were about the same, he said.

The signals, Yeoman said, were received from 10 to 15 minutes and then faded out, presumably when the satellite sped out of range.

Yeoman calculated that during the 15-minute period he received

John Rhoad In National FFA Band

John Rhoad, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Elton Rhoad, Route 62 south, will leave Thursday for Kansas City, Mo., where he will play in the national Future Farmers of America band at the FFA's week-long convention there.

A baritone horn player in the Washington High School band, Rhoad holds the degree of State Farmer in the FFA, and was active in the now-defunct chapter at WHS.

He will leave Columbus by train for Kansas City at 7:33 a. m. Rehearsals will start Friday noon.

The band's first performance is scheduled Saturday when the members will head the FFA convention parade. They will play for convention activities throughout the week and are also booked to play for a parade sponsored by American Royal Livestock Exhibition, being held in Kansas City the same week. He will leave Kansas City Oct. 20.

Rhoad is one of a dozen youths from Ohio invited to play in the band or to take part in the chorus at the convention. The state sends only two official delegates.

the signals Sunday evening, he tracked the satellite for 4,500 miles—2,250 miles before it passed over the closest point above Washington C. H. and 2,250 miles after it went on by.

YEOMAN made a tape recording of the signals Sunday. On Monday he let his son take them to the Chaffin School where they were played back for the pupils in the science classes.

Yeoman, one of perhaps a dozen amateur operators in the county, said he had not talked with any others, either here or elsewhere, about the satellite signals, but presumed many of them have been receiving them.

He had, however, talked with members of the Antarctic expedition at the South Pole during the summer and fall. Since these amateurs identify themselves only by their first names, he said he did not know with whom he has talked, other than that one of them was from Cleveland.

Investors Take Closer Look as Stocks Decline

Margins and Yields Getting Study as Doldrums Hit Trading

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — With stock prices on the downgrade most of the time in recent weeks and trading in the doldrums much of the time traders and investors are taking a closer look today at a number of things:

How high stock margins should be, yields on favorites at present prices, common shares with preferred or other corporate debt ahead of them at dividend time, profit margins of firms and industries, and what companies stand to gain by the ever changing American living habits.

Margin rules of the Federal Reserve Board aren't as close to traders as they once were — the percentage buying on margin is much lower today than in the 20's say. At the moment a buyer must put up 70 per cent in cash.

But the rules are close to a broker's heart because his income depends on commissions on sales and with the market volume low commissions are on the slim side. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, thinks that if the Federal Reserve let people put up only 50 per cent in cash, trading would pick up and the broker members would be happier.

So far the Federal Reserve isn't talking.

Yields on stocks are closer to the investor's heart. The long drop in prices has sweetened the yield for many favorites. The Exchange, monthly magazine of the big board, points out 20 common stocks in its October issue today that have long records of unbroken quarterly dividend payments and have fallen in price enough of late to make their yields more attractive.

Yield is found by dividing the price paid for a stock into the year's cash dividend income.

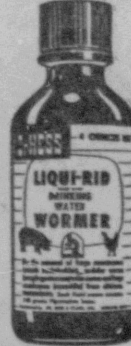

The exchange also lists 15 prominent stocks that have paid dividends every quarter for 20 to 75 years but have fair sized amounts of long term debt on which interest must be paid before shareholders are taken care of. The common share yield ranges from 1 1/4 to 7 per cent. In companies with no long term debt or preferred shares, the common stock owners share whatever there is to pay out, above what is retained for corporate business or growth. But the Exchange points out that interest on the fixed debt of corporations is deductible before corporate income taxes, and that helps common shareholders some.

The 1,071 companies with common stocks listed on the exchange reported sales last year of nearly 233 1/2 billion dollars, but net income after taxes of $16 1/2 billion, or a profit on sales of 7 per cent. Highest percentage was 20.8 for the financial companies and the lowest 2.8 for retail trade.

What industries and companies stand to gain if the trend toward more leisure time continues in the United States is explored by the Exchange. It notes that vacations of employed persons added up to 70 million weeks this year, and that the average factory week of 40 hours at present is expected to shrink to 36 in less than 10 years and maybe to 30 later on.

The Department of Commerce points out that Americans last year sharply boosted their spending for various products usually associated with recreation and leisure time. They spent 1 1/2 billion dollars on wheel goods, durable toys, sport equipment, boats and pleasure aircraft, a 65 per cent gain over 1955. They spent 1 1/2 billion on nondurable toys and sport supplies, a 55 per cent boost. The exchange lists 25 companies whose products, all or part, are

Satellite Signals Picked Up Here

A long series of "beeps" coming at regular intervals through space to be picked up by a radio receiver admittedly are pretty hard to identify, but there's no doubt in the mind of Jack Yeoman that they came from the Russian sputnik satellite, circling the earth 500 miles out in space.

Yeoman picked up the signals six times Sunday and early Monday on his own amateur short wave radio which, incidentally, is a complex instrument and certainly not one an amateur, in the strict sense of the word, could use.

He got the signals the first time at about 2 p. m. Sunday, the first time he tried seriously to tune them in. Thereafter, they came in regularly at 95-minute intervals; this tallied precisely with reports of scientists, who have calculated the satellite is traveling at a speed of 18,000 miles an hour and circling the earth every 95 minutes.

THE SIGNALS came in on a frequency of 15 meters. Yeoman said he understood they also are being sent on 7 1/2 meters, but added that this band is used infrequently by radio amateurs. He said the signals were picked up "just a little off the amateur band" assigned by the Federal Communications Commission.

Yeoman said he could detect no code in the signals, which came in without a break, such as the break between words of Morse code signals. Each "beep" lasted about a second and the intervals between "beeps" were about the same, he said.

The signals, Yeoman said, were received from 10 to 15 minutes and then faded out, presumably when the satellite sped out of range.

Yeoman calculated that during the 15-minute period he received the signals Sunday evening, he tracked the satellite for 4,500 miles—2,250 miles before it passed over the closest point above Washington C. H. and 2,250 miles after it went on by.

YEOMAN made a tape recording of the signals Sunday. On Monday he let his son take them to the Chaffin School where they were played back for the pupils in the science classes.

Yeoman, one of perhaps a dozen amateur operators in the county, said he had not talked with any others, either here or elsewhere, about the satellite signals, but presumed many of them have been receiving them.

He had, however, talked with members of the Antarctic expedition at the South Pole during the summer and fall. Since these amateurs identify themselves only by their first names, he said he did not know with whom he has talked, other than that one of them was from Cleveland.

A baritone horn player in the Washington High School band, Rhoad holds the degree of State Farmer in the FFA, and was active in the now-defunct chapter at WHS.

He will leave Columbus by train for Kansas City at 7:33 a. m. Rehearsals will start Friday noon.

The band's first performance is scheduled Saturday when the members will head the FFA convention parade. They will play for convention activities throughout the week and are also booked to play for a parade sponsored by American Royal Livestock Exhibition, being held in Kansas City the same week.

He will leave Kansas City Oct. 20.

UNPAINTED FURNITURE

Before you apply paint to new unfinished furniture, be sure and sand all rough spots until they are perfectly smooth. Then go over the entire surface with a soft cloth dampened with turpentine. If the wood is close-grained—cedar, pine, maple or birch—it will not need a filler. It can be painted at once. Apply enamel undercoat (unthinned). Allow 24 hours drying time. Finish with a coat of quick-drying furniture enamel in your choice of colors. When we say "your choice of colors" we mean exactly that. We can give you enamels and flat finishes in just about any color you can name. See us today!

Cincy Purcell Named to Ohio Top Grid Ten

Warren Keeps No. 1
Rating in Weekly Poll
Of Sports Writers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati Purcell's high scoring juggernaut crashed into the top 10 of Ohio's high school football teams today as 43 sports editors rated the scholastic gridders in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Queen City crew, with 225 points to 6 for four beaten foes, wheeled into ninth place in the statewide standings. Warren Harding and Massillon, last week's 1-2 teams, were the only ones retaining the same spots.

Warren had a rugged time in its 20-6 win over Mansfield's Tigers last week, and Massillon had to come from behind to take a 26-7 win over Steubenville's stubborn Big Red. Fremont Ross, with a 21-0 win over a so-so Findlay squad, skidded from third to fourth as Cleveland Benedictine moved up from sixth to third by trimming Glenview 47-7.

Youngstown South, which played Saturday and trampled Youngstown Chaney 46-6, dropped from fourth to sixth, and Toledo DeVilbiss, fifth a week ago, wound up seventh despite a 19-0 verdict over Lorain.

Portsmouth's Trojans jumped two berths to fifth with a 32-0 win over Lima, their third shutout in four wins. Canton McKinley's defending champions, 10th two weeks ago after losing to Warren, and ninth last week, eased into the eighth spot with a come-from-behind 27-7 win over Canton Lincoln.

Purcell, 83-0 victor over Cincinnati Taft, zoomed from a 26th place tie to ninth, leaving last place to the elite to Troy, which dropped from eighth despite a sterling 41-6 conquest over Sidney.

On the 10-9-8-etc voting basis Warren picked up 283 poll points to Massillon's 247. A week ago, with 34 editors voting, Warren had a 247 to 206 edge over the highly-touted Tigers.

From Here and There: Influenza caused several postponements last weekend. One prevented Van Wert from extending its unbeaten streak to 33 against Shawnee, and another kept Brookfield from making it 23 in a row against Grove City, Pa.

Two long streaks ended. Doylestown of Wayne County was stopped at 24 in a row as Manchester of Summit County eked out a 12-6 verdict, and Conneaut's 15-game stretch ended as Salem triumphed 23-6.

Fremont made it 24 in a row with the triumph over Findlay; Troy reached 22 against Sidney. East Palestine soared to 18 with its 25-0 win over Lisbon. Huron made it 14 by beating Amherst 14-0, and Mount Vernon has 13 in a row after trouncing Bexley 27-6.

The top 10 could be jumbled as never before as the result of this week's games. Warren goes against ever-tough Erie (Pa.) East, while second and third place Massillon and Cleveland Benedictine, each with a 4-0 record, tangle at Massillon.

Fremont Ross has Sandusky as its foe, and Portsmouth is not an odds-on favorite in its class with once-beaten Middletown. Youngstown South has 11th place Campbell Memorial (4-0) to get by. Canton McKinley plays Springfield, and the Wildcats will be rough after two straight losses after a pair of conquests.

Toledo DeVilbiss meets Toledo Waite. Cincinnati Purcell must get by unbeaten Hamilton to retain its newly-won berth, and Troy also bangs into a 4-0 opponent in Dayton Fairmont. Thus five of the top 10 will be meeting teams which match their 4-0 record.

Here is how Ohio's sports editors rank the high school football teams. Shown are first place votes in parentheses, the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, the won-lost-tied and scoring records of the Top Ten. Each of the leaders has a 4-0-0 record except Canton McKinley which has 3-1-0.

Mistakes Are Pointed Out

Lions Go over Movies Of Loss to Greenfield

The Lions gridders of WHS did not even put on their uniforms for the regular Monday afternoon practice, but Coach Fred Domenico said he thought the switch from a rugged scrimmage to a "skull practice" was "well worth the time it took."

The Lions will meet Hillsboro's Indians at Gardner Park here next Friday night in their second S-C League game of the season. At the "skull practice," which lasted until nearly 7 p. m. in the field house, the Lions saw the movies of the game they lost to Greenfield's Tigers last Friday night.

The coaching staff analyzed the game, play by play by each of the Lions. They pointed out the mistakes—and they pointed out the plays well executed as examples of what to do and how to do it.

Each of the Lions was graded on knowing the assignments and on execution. In the end, Domenico explained, "every boy should have known what he did wrong and how to correct the mistakes... at least, they saw the movies and that certainly should help."

Tuesday after school, the Lions will be back in their practice uniforms and mixed it up in some scrimmage. They will start work on the offense which has failed to score in three of their four games. After that they will work on their defense, but emphasis will be on the offense Tuesday.

Domenico said he was not completely discouraged with the play of the team as he pointed out that the boys have shown (in the movies) they know what to do, that they know the fundamentals, but they lack that "last little oomph" in the actual execution of them.

DOMENICO SAID he feels that, the steady improvement of the passing attack, the Lions now are building up what he described as a "complete offense."

Some of the boys who came out after practice started have been gradually worked into the team and some already have seen limited action.

While the varsity squad was holding its "skull practice" in the field house, the reserve squad was having 34 to 0 to the Greenfield reserves.

Minor Sports To Get Share Of State Fund

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio High School Athletic Assn. has agreed to increase expense payments to athletes participating in minor sports at regional and state meets. The plan will be tried for a year.

The association decided at a meeting Monday. At the same time, it agreed to reduce its "take" from 15 to 10 per cent in district basketball tournaments. The two state will cost the association an estimated $40,000.

The state board voted the new expense setup at the recommendation of 30 district board members who met here Saturday.

The change will affect cross-country, swimming, wrestling, track, golf, tennis and baseball.

Under the plan, baseball teams will receive $2 per mile for a one-way trip if they stay in the state or regional tournament for one day, or $3.25 per mile if they stay two days.

In the other sports, participants will receive expense payments individually. Each player within 40 miles of the regional state meet will receive $4 a day; from 40 to 100 miles, $10 a day; from 100 to 160 miles, $18 per day and more than 160 miles, $20 per day.

The board said it dropped its take from 15 to 10 per cent in basketball receipts to give more money to district boards. The other 5 per cent will help defray expenses of minor sports teams at district meets.

Then O'Malley gives the city the 10-acre site of Wrigley Field, home of the Los Angeles Angels in the Pacific Coast League, which O'Malley picked up when he bought the Angel franchise last year.

Burdette Amazed By His Own Hurling

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lew Burdette, the Milwaukee Braves' pitching hero who got his second series victory over New York with a splendid 1-0 shutout or a seven-hitter Monday, was surprised he used only 87 pitches in his white-wash job. They included sliders, fast balls, screwballs and sinkers, but about only eight curve balls. Burdette says he will be ready to go again when the series windup resumes in New York Wednesday if Manager Fred Haney wants him. "A couple of years ago I pitched a complete game with only two days of rest, and I could do it again," he said. "I'll go any time Haney wants me."

Hayes Expects Illinois To Be Tough Opponent

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes plans a "relatively hard practice" today to sharpen up his men for their encounter Saturday against the University of Illinois. Hayes, back from Saturday's 35-7 victory over the University of Washington, said he expects Illinois to give the Buckeyes a rough afternoon. Saturday's game, 46th in the long series with Illinois, in which Ohio has won 26, lost 16 and tied 3, will be televised.

The climate of Ohio is considered humid. June is generally most generous with moisture, averaging well up toward 4 inches of rainfall. October, with only about 2 1/2 inches of rainfall, is generally the driest month.

Milwaukee Fans Fully Confident

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee made its beloved Braves "Auf Wiedersehen," fully confident they'll bring back a World Series championship from New York.

Leading the series, 3 to 2, the Braves moved to New York for a rest today before hooking up in the series' sixth game Wednesday. More than 2,000 Braves fans cheered the takeoff of the Milwaukee team's plane on the eastern flight.

The feeling in this beer capital of America was that "the Yankees are dead" without injured Mickey Mantle and with Monday's failure by Whitey Ford, who won the series opener Oct. 2.

In Ohio, an incorporated community of more than five thousand persons is a city. By the latest estimate, Ohio has 145 cities.

Poise, Confidence Of Mighty Yanks Shaken in Series

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees today were in their worst position since they bowed to the Brooklyn Dodgers in seven games in the 1955 World Series.

Their poise and confidence were shaken for the first time in the series. The almost certain loss of Mickey Mantle was added to Whitey Ford's paralyzing 1-0 defeat Monday by Milwaukee. The Braves now lead 3-2 in the series.

Although Manager Casey Stengel is frankly pessimistic about Mantle's availability for Wednesday's sixth game, he is hoping his top slugger's sore shoulder mends sufficiently to enable him to swing a bat.

Mantle actually hurt his right shoulder in the first inning of Saturday's game when Red Schoendienst fell on top of him trying to flag down pitcher Bob Buhl's throw in an unsuccessful attempt

Oklahoma '11' Just Keeps On In Top Place

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yankees may be sufferin' but their football counterpart in sustained reign, Oklahoma's Sooners, are rolling right along in their accustomed style.

For the third straight week, it's the Sooners No. 1 in the Associated Press college football poll. Of the 116 sports writers participating in the nationwide balloting, 65 cast first-place ballots for Oklahoma.

On the usual point basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc., the Sooners accumulated 1,047 points for a tidy lead over runner-up Michigan State, which had 21 first-place votes and 906 points.

The same teams ranked one-two a week ago and lost none of their luster in their second games of the season, Oklahoma boosting its winning streak to 42 with a 40-14 rout of Iowa State while Michigan State blanked California, 19-0.

Elsewhere, the top 10 lineup underwent quite a shuffling, with Texas A&M moving up to third place followed by Minnesota, Duke Michigan, Oregon State, Iowa, Auburn and Army.

Army was numbered among the elite for the first time, and just in time to give added meaning to the resumption of the Cadets' series with Notre Dame at Philadelphia Saturday. The Irish are 12th.

Cincy Purcell Named to Ohio Top Grid Ten

Warren Keeps No. 1
Rating in Weekly Poll
Of Sports Writers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Purcell's high scoring juggernaut crashed into the top 10 of Ohio's high school football teams today as 43 sports editors rated the scholastic gridirers in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Queen City crew, with 225 points to 6 for four beaten foes, wheeled into ninth place in the statewide standings. Warren Harding and Massillon, last week's 1-2 teams, were the only ones retaining the same spots.

Warren had a rugged time in its 20-6 win over Mansfield's Tigers last week, and Massillon had to come from behind to take a 26-7 win over Steubenville's stubborn Big Red. Fremont Ross, with a 21-0 win over a so-so Findlay squad, skidded from third to fourth as Cleveland Benedictine moved up from sixth to third by trimming Glenview 47-7.

Youngstown South, which played Saturday and trampled Youngstown Chaney 46-6, dropped from fourth to sixth, and Toledo DeVilliss, fifth a week ago, wound up seventh despite a 19-0 verdict over Lorain.

Portsmouth's Trojans jumped two berths to fifth with a 32-0 win over Lima, their third shutout in four wins. Canton McKinley's defending champions, 10th two weeks ago after losing to Warren, and ninth last week, eased into the eighth spot with a come-from-behind 27-7 win over Canton Lincoln.

Purcell, 83-0 victor over Cincinnati Taft, zoomed from a 26th place tie to ninth, leaving last place among the elite to Troy, which dropped from eighth despite a sterling 41-6 conquest over Sidney.

On the 10-9-8-etc voting basis Warren picked up 283 poll points to Massillon's 247. A week ago, with 34 editors voting, Warren had a 247 to 206 edge over the highly-touted Tigers.

From Here and There: Influenza caused several postponements last weekend. One prevented Van Wert from extending its unbegun streak to 33 against Shawnee, and another kept Brookfield from making it 23 in a row against Grove City, Pa.

Two long streaks ended. Doylestown of Wayne County was stopped at 24 in a row as Manchester of Summit County eked out a 12-6 verdict, and Conneaut's 15-game stretch ended as Salem triumphed 39-6.

Fremont made it 24 in a row with the triumph over Findlay; Troy reached 22 against Sidney. East Palestine soared to 18 with its 25-0 win over Lisbon. Huron made it 14 by beating Amherst 14-0, and Mount Vernon has 13 in a row after trouncing Bexley 27-6.

The top 10 could be jumbled as never before as the result of this week's games. Warren goes against ever-tough Erie (Pa.). East, while second and third place Massillon and Cleveland Benedictine, each with a 4-0 record, tangle at Massillon.

Fremont Ross has Sandusky as its foe, and Portsmouth is not an odds-on favorite in its class with once-beaten Middletown. Youngstown South has 11th place Campbell Memorial (4-0) to get by. Canton McKinley plays Springfield, and the Wildcats will be rough after two straight losses after a pair of conquests.

Toledo DeVilliss meets Toledo Waite. Cincinnati Purcell must get by unbeaten Hamilton to retain its newly-won berth, and Troy also bangs into a 4-0 opponent in Dayton Fairmont. Thus five of the top 10 will be meeting teams which match their 4-0 record.

Here is how Ohio's sports editors rank the high school football teams. Shown are first place votes in parentheses, the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, the won-lost-tied and scoring records of the Top Ten. Each of the leaders has a 4-0-0 record except Canton McKinley which has 3-1-0.

Mistakes Are Pointed Out

Lions Go over Movies Of Loss to Greenfield

The Lions gridders of WHS did not even put on their uniforms for the regular Monday afternoon practice, but Coach Fred Domenico said he thought the switch from a rugged scrimmage to a "skull practice" was "well worth the time it took."

The Lions will meet Hillsboro's Indians at Gardner Park here next Friday night in their second S.O. League game of the season.

At the "skull practice," which lasted until nearly 7 p. m. in the field house, the Lions saw the movies of the game they lost to Greenfield's Tigers last Friday night.

The coaching staff analyzed the game, play by play by each of the Lions. They pointed out the mistakes—and they pointed out the plays well executed as examples of what to do and how to do it.

Each of the Lions was graded on knowing the assignments and on execution. In the end, Domenico explained, "every boy should have known what he did wrong and how to correct the mistakes. . . at least, they saw the movies and that certainly should help."

Tuesday after school, the Lions will be back in their practice uniforms and mixed it up in some scrimmage. They will start work on the offense which has failed to score in three of their four games. After that they will work on defense.

Los Angeles OKs Plan To Adopt Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles city council has finally asked Walter O'Malley for the hand of his darling Dodgers.

The move that had been stewing since last May became a reality late Monday when the council mustered the necessary 10 votes to transfer Brooklyn west.

In New York, O'Malley withheld comment, but his acceptance of the contract offered by the city was believed in the bag. The Dodger president has until Oct. 15 to make his decision.

Four councilmen opposed the transfer to the very end of the tumultuous, six-hour session. All four said they want the Dodgers, but feel terms of the contract bringing them here are unfavorable to the city.

Under terms of the contract, the Dodgers would play their games in Wrigley Field until O'Malley builds a 50,000-seat stadium on 300 acres of Chavez Ravine land deeded to Dodgers by the city.

Then O'Malley gives the city the 10-acre site of Wrigley Field, home of the Los Angeles Angels in the Pacific Coast League, which O'Malley picked up when he bought the Angel franchise last year.

Burdette Amazed By His Own Hurling

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lew Burdette, the Milwaukee Braves' pitching hero who got his second series victory over New York with a splendid 1-0 shutout or a seven-hitter Monday, was surprised he used only eight pitches in his white-wash job. They included sliders, fast balls, screwballs and sinkers, but about only eight curve balls.

Burdette says he will be ready to go again when the series windup resumes in New York Wednesday if Manager Fred Haney wants him. "A couple of years ago I pitched a complete game with only two days of rest, and I could do it again," he said. "I'll go any time Haney wants me."

Hayes Expects Illinois To Be Tough Opponent

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes plans a "relatively hard practice" today to sharpen up his men for their encounter Saturday against the University of Illinois.

Hayes, back from Saturday's 35-7 victory over the University of Washington, said he expects Illinois to give the Buckeyes a rough afternoon. Saturday's game, 46th in the long series with Illinois, in which Ohio has won 26, lost 16 and tied 3, will be televised.

Middletown 8, Piqua Catholic, Harrison and Fairland 7, Akron Central 6, Cleveland East 5, Toledo Waite, Maumee, East Liverpool, Painesville Harvey, and Springfield Catholic 4, Liberty Union 3, Ottawa Hills, Fairborn, Athens and Olentangy 2, Toledo St. Francis, Rutland, South Euclid Brush and Greenon 1.

The climate of Ohio is considered humid. June is generally most generous with moisture, averaging well up toward 4 inches of rainfall. October, with only about 2 1/2 inches of rainfall, is generally the driest month.

On their defense, "but emphasis will be on the offense Tuesday. Domenico said he was not completely discouraged with the play of the team as he pointed out that the boys have shown (in the movies) they know what to do, that they know the fundamentals, but they lack that 'last little oomph' in the actual execution of them."

While the varsity squad was holding its "skull practice" in the field house, the reserve squad was bowing 34 to 0 to the Greenfield reserves.

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio High School Athletic Assn. has agreed to increase expense payments to athletes participating in minor sports at regional and state meets. The plan will be tried for a year.

The association decided at a meeting Monday. At the same time, it agreed to reduce its "take" from 15 to 10 per cent in district basketball tournaments. The two state will cost the association an estimated $40,000.

The state board voted the new expense setup at the recommendation of 30 district board members who met here Saturday.

The change will affect cross-country, swimming, wrestling, track, golf, tennis and baseball.

Under the plan, baseball teams will receive $2 per mile for a one-way trip if they stay in the state or regional tournament for one day, or $3.25 per mile if they stay two days.

In the other sports, participants will receive expense payments individually. Each player within 40 miles of the regional state meet will receive $4 a day; from 40 to 100 miles, $10 a day; from 100 to 160 miles, $18 per day and more than 160 miles, $20 per day.

The board said it dropped its take from 15 to 10 per cent in basketball receipts to give more money to district boards. The other 5 per cent will help defray expenses of minor sports teams at district meets.

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY
C. H. Ring, Jeffersonville, who operated a general store in that town from 1940 until he closed out his business three years ago and took employment with the Steel Products Co., of Springfield, has called my attention to prices quoted
o. the day he opened his store
compared with the present time.

For instance salted peanuts were 10 cents a pound; chocolate drops with creamy centers were 8 cents per pound, and chocolate peanut clusters 15 cents a pound or two pounds for 25 cents.
Orange slices were 8 cents a pound and chocolate coated peanuts 15 cents a pound.

Oil cloth, 46 inches wide was priced at 26 cents a yard, galvanized buckets 25 cents for 10 quart size and 29 cents for 12-quart size.

Women's spring dresses were two for $1, and wash tubs were 39 cents up.

How prices have changed in the 17 years since the above quotations.

CANDY FOR THE KIDS

It has been a matter of 70 years or more since Sené Mills operated a general store at Pleasant View, and in conjunction with the store had a two-horse "peddling wagon" and sold his goods throughout the community by driving from

MISS THE TRAINS!

Seems like every time something really good for the local branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad through this county, bobs up to give the line new life, the proposal falls flat and the county's first railroad continues to drag along as usual.

For instance it has not been many years since some Pennsylvania official saw a real opportunity to cut shipping costs from Cincinnati to points east by utilizing the local branch of the road for through freights as a shorter route.

This looked so good that bridges were strengthened, roadbed was repaired and the road placed in better condition generally, for it would have meant new life to the line.

Then the proposal was dropped and has not been mentioned since.

Then some forward looking official decided that the Pennsylvania could haul a lot of coal originating on the N&W, by picking it up at Circleville, moving it over the local branch to this city and northward over the DT&I (also Pennsylvania owned).

It sounded good and was moving toward fruition when the "powers that be" frowned upon the proposal and that fell through.

ROAD WAS CHANGED

When the Devalon Rd. and its extension was first built approximately 115 years ago, gravel was obtained from two pits to furnish ballast for the road.

At that time the road extended to the west and north of the home of Mr. and

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

C. H. Ring, Jeffersonville, who operated a general store in that town from 1940 until he closed out his business three years ago and took employment with the Steel Products Co., of Springfield, has called my attention to prices quoted on the day he opened his store compared with the present time.

For instance salted peanuts were 10 cents a pound; chocolate drops with creamy centers were 8 cents per pound, and chocolate peanut clusters 15 cents a pound or two pounds for 25 cents. Orange slices were 8 cents a pound and chocolate coated peanuts 15 cents a pound.

Oil cloth, 46 inches wide was priced at 26 cents a yard, galvanized buckets 25 cents for 10 quart size and 29 cents for 12-quart size.

Women's spring dresses were for $1, and wash tubs were 39 cents up.

How prices have changed in the 17 years since the above quotations.

CANDY FOR THE KIDS

It has been a matter of 70 years or more since Sene Mills operated a general store at Pleasant View, and in conjunction with the store had a two-horse "peddling wagon" and sold his goods throughout the community by driving from house to house once each week.

This method of dispensing goods was very popular in those days. Then, 30 or 40 years ago, the automobile literally "changed everything."

Thurman Sheley, of the Devalon Rd., recalls that he always looked forward to the coming of the Mills huckster wagon, for he knew that he would always get a barbershop stick of candy—and candy was CANDY in those days.

It was the custom of Mills to give every youngster a stick of candy whenever he sold goods, and as a result he was just about the most popular man who ever lived in the community.

ONE OF LAST TO GO

A half century ago many farm owners in Paint and Jefferson townships, who wished to extend their tile ditches to new areas for better drainage, obtained their tile from the Dickerson tile mill, located immediately south of Sedalia, in lower Madison County.

This mill was about 100 yards east of Route 38, and for a great many years supplied hundreds of farmers in Madison and Fayette counties, with a high grade of clay tile, such as formerly produced by so many tile mills in this part of Ohio.

MISSING THE TRAINS!

Seems like every time something really good for the local branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad through this county, bobs up to give the line new life, the proposal falls flat and the county's first railroad continues to drag along as usual.

For instance it has not been many years since some Pennsylvania official saw a real opportunity to cut shipping costs from Cincinnati to points easy by utilizing the local branch of the road for through freights as a shorter route.

This looked so good that bridges were strengthened, roadbed was repaired and the road placed in better condition generally, for it would have meant new life to the line. Then the proposal was dropped and has not been mentioned since.

1047 Projects Completed

862 Boys and Girls In 4-H Program Here

Members of the Fayette County 4-H Council spent their meeting time analyzing the 1957 summary of 4-H club work here in this county.

The statistics show that 862 boys and girls were enrolled in club work with 1,262 projects. Of these 739 completed 1047 projects. This meant 85 percent of the members enrolled actually completed 83 percent of all the projects which they had signed up for.

The breakdown of the projects shows 310 enrolled in nutrition projects with 234 completions; 352 in clothing with 290 completion; 75 in home furnishings with 64 completions; nine in home management with seven completions; eight in personality, 15 in child care and 10 in first aid with full completions in each project. This meant 80.3 percent completions for all home economics projects.

Legion Plans Dance Oct. 26

Member Sign-up Report Is Made

Plans for a Halloween Dance to be held by the Paul F. Hughey Post No. 25 American Legion, in the hall here Oct. 26, were discussed at a joint meeting of the post's executive and house committees Monday night.

The dance, which will be open to Legionnaires and others, will feature "live music" and will run from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Attendants may come masked or not, as they desire. Prizes for costuming will be awarded.

Tickets for the dance were handed out to committee members Monday night.

Other posts in this district, representing cities and counties throughout this area, have been invited to attend.

AT THE SAME Session, Paul Souther, Legion vice-commander and membership chairman, announced that the post's annual membership drive is lagging behind expectations.

The unit must sign up about 170 more members by Oct. 20 in order to win the plaque for membership accomplishment in its size level, Souther estimated.

"We're shooting for a minimum of 400 members," Souther said. Possibilities for remodeling the Legion's hall on N. Fayette St. were brought up and "met with a favorable reception," according to Norman (Bud) Boop, post commander, but the group did not get down to specific details.

Next meeting of the whole post is Oct. 14.
